The King's Daughters' Home will be the scene of a jolly Christmas celebration tomorrow morning, and a tree, beautifully loaded with presents, will form the chief center of attraction. Every one of the old ladies who live at the home will be remembered with at least half a dozen gifts. The usual big dinner will be served at two o'clock in the afternoon.

There will be no celebration at the Lunalilo Home tomorrow except the usual Christmas dinner.

Kamehameha Schools.
In Bishop Hall last evening, the Kamehameha Boys' School held their Christmas celebration with a big Christmas tree, prettily decorated and loaded with many presents. Following the distribution of the gifts a sports program of athletic stunts was given. This afternoon the members of the Preparatory School will hold their exercises, and this evening the Girls' School will celebrate. As usual, the entire student body will be treated to a routing big dinner tomorrow noon. There will be no services in the chapel.

Castle Home.
The "kiddies" at the Castle Home will be the guests this afternoon of Mrs. Harold Dillingham at her residence on Beretania Avenue. The first event on the program will be an old-fashioned Christmas dinner, with all the fixings and things that go to make a typical celebration. Following the dinner, Santa Claus will arrive, and will distribute presents to the little tots from a huge Christmas tree. Games and songs will then follow.

Waipahu School.
The closing exercises for the fall term took place at Waipahu school on Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

The children and a large gathering of parents and friends sat on the lawn and enjoyed the exercises which consisted of songs, recitations, stories and two plays which were given by grade seven.

One end of the veranda was used as a stage and on the other end was a beautifully dressed Xmas tree.

At the conclusion of the exercises Santa Claus arrived in an automobile and the children then went to their rooms and received their gifts. Each child also received a bag of candy, nuts and raisins.

This all was made possible through the generosity of Mr. Bull, the officers of the plantation, the friends of the school and Hackfeld and Co.

The tired teachers who had worked hard for the success of the affair voted that it had been worth while.

Associated Charities.

The Associated Charities will do very little this year in the way of giving to needy families, as those who have been accustomed to being helped by the association have gotten to the point where they need little or no assistance. However, Mrs. Jordan, the manager, has a large supply of clothing which she will distribute between now and the New Year in the places where it will prove the greatest benefit.

Queen's Hospital.
Many people will no doubt visit the Queen's Hospital tomorrow, carrying Christmas cheer to the patients. There will be no celebration of the day, but the usual dinner will be served at 1:00 p.m.

Country Club.
The numerous caddies who carry the sticks around for the members of the Country Club who are enthusiastic golfers, will be the guests at a Christmas tree at the Club tomorrow. There will also be plenty to eat.

Girls' Industrial School.
A Christmas tree, followed by an entertainment, will be held at the Girls' Industrial School this evening at which time presents will be distributed. Christmas dinner will be served at noon tomorrow.

Kauaikeolani Children's Hospital.
A Christmas tree will be held tomorrow at the Kauaikeolani Children's Hospital, and it is expected that Santa Claus will appear in time to distribute the gifts which have been accumulating for the past two weeks. A Christmas dinner with all the fixings will be served at noon.

Kapiolani Home.
Christmas services will be held in the chapel, at the Kapiolani Girls' Home early tomorrow morning with special music. Following this, there will be a Christmas tree and presents will be distributed. The usual large Christmas dinner will be served at noon.

Especially bounteous has been the charity of Christmas to the little boys and girls of the Kalihi and Kapiolani homes, where great trees this evening will bow down under the glorious burden of a host of pretty toys and good things to eat. So great in fact, has Santa Claus' generosity been this year that the good matrons of these two institutions have about decided not to let the inmates participate in the joys of the Malihini Christmas tree tomorrow.

They say that the little folk under their care are going to get so many presents that they ought not take any of the Malihini Christmas toys, lest the number that many children less fortunate should get. There are about fifty-four girls at the Kapiolani home, and twenty-eight boys at Kalihi. The trees are being decorated this afternoon and immediately after prayers tonight the vari-colored lights hidden in the greenery will be lighted and the Christmas eve celebration of the children be given full sway.

Under the big algaroba tree in the yard of the Kalihi hospital the Christmas celebration of the grown-up unfortunates will take place at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Here, too, the generosity of Honolulu's Christmas-giving public will be shown in masses of presents, in choice dainties and delicatessen and appetizing comestibles, trinkets for personal adornment, amusement, entertainment—a hundred varieties of gifts to gladden the hearts of the recipients.

St. Louis College.
The students of the St. Louis College will attend the services at the Catholic Cathedral at nine o'clock tomorrow morning. While there will be no Christmas tree at the school, a Christmas dinner will be served at the school at twelve o'clock.

Japanese Y. M. C. A.
Nothing of importance will be done at the Japanese Y. M. C. A. in celebration of Christmas, but a large reception has been planned for the members and their friends for the evening of December 25.

Korean Churches.
The Korean churches will hold Christmas exercises this evening.

Central Union.
The Bible study room at the Central Union Church was the scene of joyous festivities last evening when the youthful members of the different classes met to celebrate Christmas. A large stage had been erected at one end of the room on which was a wonderful Christmas tree loaded down with gifts and decorated as all good Christmas trees should be. The children were divided into groups, each group being in charge of a teacher, and an interesting program had been prepared, which was opened with Christmas songs and carols by the children. A Christmas solo was sung by Miss Bertha Kemp, W. A. Bowen offered a prayer of thanks, a recitation was given by Frances Farrington, another interesting recitation by Theodore Forbes, and the program was brought to a close with a Christmas playlet. Then Santa Claus arrived, and there was a general distribution of gifts and candy. There will be no Christmas services in Central Union tomorrow.

German Lutheran Church.

Regular services will be held in the German Lutheran Church tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock. Christmas celebration for children will take place in the church tomorrow afternoon beginning at five o'clock.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT REACHES PRISON

The contagious spirit of Christmas has penetrated even to the halls of justice today.

Lily Hookano, who has been held in jail ever since her husband, Norman B. Smith, the alleged smuggler disappeared about a month ago, was ordered released this morning by U. S. District Attorney Breckons on her personal recognizance to the next term of court.

In the damage suit over the wreck of the schooner Kikikat, brought by the owners, Pope and Talbot against the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, U. S. District Judge Dole this morning overruled the exceptions to the libel and gave the libellants ten days in which to file their answers.

Harada, the Japanese who has been held in jail more than eight months without trial on the charge of violating the Edmunds Act, entered a nolo contendere to the charge and Judge Clemons assessed a penalty of one hour's detention in the U. S. marshal's office, after serving that brief time he was discharged.

A number of local attorneys acted as Santa Claus to the circuit and federal court clerks, sending boxes of cigars to these hard working court employees.
